SYNOPSIS:

The Medication Assisted Treatment of Opioid Use Act of 2019 ("MAT Act"), requires the Alabama Board of Medical Examiners to adopt rules governing the prescribing and use of medications containing buprenorphine to treat opioid addiction in the nonresidential setting. The rules authorized by The MAT Act relate to dosage, screening, therapy, and record-keeping related to treatment with buprenorphine. A standard working group with members who specialize in addiction is also provided to assist in adoption of the rules.

Since enactment, changes in federal law and policy governing medication-assisted treatment of opioid addiction have created conflicts with the provisions of the MAT Act.

This bill would repeal the MAT Act.
