HB No. 671

Abstract: Provides that if it has been more than one year since the emergency, the exception to residency requirements for those seeking elective office, which exception is applicable to persons displaced by a declared emergency, is not applicable.

Present law provides that a person who has been involuntarily displaced from his residence or domicile by a gubernatorially declared emergency shall still be considered a resident at his permanent residence for purposes of seeking election to a public office which has a residency or domiciliary requirement; however, present law does not apply to a person who has established a new domicile or changed his registration. Proposed law provides that present law does not apply if it has been more than one year since the emergency.
