

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

HOUSE BILL NO. 2066

101ST GENERAL ASSEMBLY

INTRODUCED BY REPRESENTATIVE SAULS.

3965H.011

DANA RADEMAN MILLER, Chief Clerk

AN ACT

To repeal section 287.067, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof one new section relating to workers' compensation, with an emergency clause.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the state of Missouri, as follows:

Section A. Section 287.067, RSMo, is repealed and one new section enacted in lieu thereof, to be known as section 287.067, to read as follows:

287.067. 1. In this chapter the term "occupational disease" is hereby defined to mean, unless a different meaning is clearly indicated by the context, an identifiable disease arising with or without human fault out of and in the course of the employment. Ordinary diseases of life to which the general public is exposed outside of the employment shall not be compensable, except where the diseases follow as an incident of an occupational disease as defined in this section. The disease need not to have been foreseen or expected but after its contraction it must appear to have had its origin in a risk connected with the employment and to have flowed from that source as a rational consequence.

2. An injury or death by occupational disease is compensable only if the occupational exposure was the prevailing factor in causing both the resulting medical condition and disability. The "prevailing factor" is defined to be the primary factor, in relation to any other factor, causing both the resulting medical condition and disability. Ordinary, gradual deterioration, or progressive degeneration of the body caused by aging or by the normal activities of day-to-day living shall not be compensable.

3. An injury due to repetitive motion is recognized as an occupational disease for purposes of this chapter. An occupational disease due to repetitive motion is compensable only if the occupational exposure was the prevailing factor in causing both the resulting

18 medical condition and disability. The "prevailing factor" is defined to be the primary factor, 19 in relation to any other factor, causing both the resulting medical condition and disability.
20 Ordinary, gradual deterioration, or progressive degeneration of the body caused by aging or 21 by the normal activities of day-to-day living shall not be compensable.

22 4. "Loss of hearing due to industrial noise" is recognized as an occupational disease
23 for purposes of this chapter and is hereby defined to be a loss of hearing in one or both ears
24 due to prolonged exposure to harmful noise in employment. "Harmful noise" means sound 25 capable of producing occupational deafness.

26 5. "Radiation disability" is recognized as an occupational disease for purposes of this 27 chapter and is hereby defined to be that disability due to radioactive properties or substances
28 or to Roentgen rays (X-rays) or exposure to ionizing radiation caused by any process 29 involving the use of or direct contact with radium or radioactive properties or substances or 30 the use of or direct exposure to Roentgen rays (X-rays) or ionizing radiation.

31 6. Disease of the lungs or respiratory tract, hypotension, hypertension, or disease of 32 the heart or cardiovascular system, including carcinoma, may be recognized as occupational 33 diseases for the purposes of this chapter and are defined to be disability due to exposure to 34 smoke, gases, carcinogens, inadequate oxygen, of paid firefighters of a paid fire department 35 or paid police officers of a paid police department certified under chapter 590 if a direct 36 causal relationship is established, or psychological stress of firefighters of a paid fire 37 department or paid peace officers of a police department who are certified under chapter 590
38 if a direct causal relationship is established.

39 7. (1) Any employee who is exposed to and contracts any contagious or 40 communicable disease arising out of and in the course of his or her employment shall be 41 eligible for benefits under this chapter as an occupational disease.

42 (2) (a) Any infectious disease; disease of the lungs or respiratory tract; disease of 43 the heart or cardiovascular system including, but not limited to, disease of the blood or 44 bone marrow, hypotension, or hypertension; or disease of the body systems or organs 45 from carcinoma contracted by a paid, volunteer, or retired firefighter, paramedic, or 46 emergency medical technician, or by a paid emergency or 9-1-1 dispatcher, shall be 47 presumed to be an occupational disease if there is reasonable medical evidence that a 48 person contracting the disease was free of the disease at the beginning of his or her
49 employment. It shall be the duty of the employer of such person to provide reasonable 50 medical evidence.

51 (b) If the employer fails to provide such reasonable medical evidence, the paid,
52 volunteer, or retired firefighter, paramedic, or emergency medical technician, or paid 53 emergency or 9-1-1 dispatcher, shall have the benefit of the presumption regardless of 54 the absence of reasonable medical evidence.

55 (c) This subdivision shall apply to paid, volunteer, and retired firefighters,
56 paramedics, and emergency medical technicians of all fire departments of all counties, 57 political subdivisions, cities, towns, fire districts, and other governmental units and to 58 paid emergency or 9-1-1 dispatchers.

59 (d) As used in this subdivision, "infectious disease" means the human 60 immunodeficiency virus, acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, tuberculosis, hepatitis
61 A, hepatitis B, hepatitis C, hepatitis D, diphtheria, meningococcal meningitis,
62 methicillin-resistant staphylococcus aureus, hemorrhagic fever, plague, rabies, severe 63 acute respiratory syndrome, and any such other disease as identified by the department
64 of health and senior services, the state emergency management agency, or an executive 65 order of the governor as a disease that poses a serious health risk for the citizens of 66 Missouri.

67 8. With regard to occupational disease due to repetitive motion, if the exposure to the 68 repetitive motion which is found to be the cause of the injury is for a period of less than three 69 months and the evidence demonstrates that the exposure to the repetitive motion with the 70 immediate prior employer was the prevailing factor in causing the injury, the prior employer 71 shall be liable for such occupational disease.

 Section B. Because immediate action is necessary to protect the health interests of 2 workers in this state, this act is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public 3 health, welfare, peace, and safety, and is hereby declared to be an emergency act within the 4 meaning of the constitution, and section A of this act shall be in full force and effect upon its 5 passage and approval.
