 - d. Interviewing the person seeking appointment as conservator;
 - e. Obtaining any other relevant information;
 - f. Submitting a written report to the court containing the guardian ad litem's response to the petition and an assessment of the protected person's ability to attend the hearing either in person or by remote means; and
 - g. Attending the hearing unless excused by the court for good cause.
2. Upon receipt of a petition for appointment of a conservator or other protective order for reasons other than minority, the court shall set a date for hearing. The proposed conservator, if any, shall attend the hearing unless excused by the court for good cause. If, at any time in the proceeding, the court determines that the interests of the person to be protected are or may be inadequately represented, the court shall appoint an attorney to serve as guardian ad litem for the person to be protected. The duties of a guardian ad litem include:
- a. Meeting, interviewing, and consulting with the person to be protected regarding the conservatorship proceeding, including explaining the purpose for the interview in the language, mode of communication, and terms the person is most likely to understand, the nature and possible consequences of the proceeding, the rights to which the person is entitled, and the legal options available, including the right to retain an attorney to represent the person;
 - b. Advocating for the best interests of the person to be protected. The appointed attorney serving as guardian ad litem may not represent the person in a legal capacity;
 - c. Ascertaining the views of the person to be protected concerning the proposed conservator, the powers and duties of the proposed conservator, the proposed conservatorship, and the scope and duration of the conservatorship;
 - d. Interviewing the person seeking appointment as conservator;

 - f. Submitting a written report to the court containing the guardian ad litem's response to the petition and an assessment of the protected person's ability to attend the hearing either in person or by remote means; and
 - g. Attending the hearing unless excused by the court for good cause.
3. If the petition seeks appointment of a conservator or other protective order for reasons other than minority and the alleged disability is mental illness, mental deficiency, physical illness or disability, chronic use of drugs, or chronic intoxication, the court shall direct the person to be protected be examined by an expert examiner designated by the court. The expert examiner preferably should be someone who is not connected with any institution in which the person is a patient or is detained.

- a. An expert examiner appointed under this subsection shall examine the person to be protected and submit a written report to the court. The report must contain:
 - (1) A description of the nature and degree of any current disability, including the medical or ~~psychological~~psychological history, if reasonably available;
 - (2) A medical prognosis or psychological evaluation specifying the estimated severity and duration of any current disability;

 6. After hearing, upon finding that the appointment of a conservator or other protective order is appropriate, the court shall make an appointment or other appropriate protective order. After the hearing, the guardian ad litem must be discharged of the duties as guardian ad litem.
 7.  - b. The benefit to the protected person, or the protected person's estate, of the conservator's services;
 - c. The necessity for the services performed;

 - k. The experience, reputation, diligence, and ability of the person performing the service;
 - l. Any conflict of interest the conservator may have; and
 - m. Whether the appointment as conservator precluded the conservator from other employment.
8. The court may determine the weight to be given to each factor under subsection 7, if any, and to any other factor the court considers relevant. A separate finding is not required for each factor, but the court's findings must contain sufficient specificity to show the factual basis for the court's determination.
9. The court shall approve compensation and reimbursement before payment to the conservator is made.

1. A conservator may expend or distribute income or principal of the estate without court authorization or confirmation for the support, education, care, or benefit of the protected person and the protected person's dependents in accordance with the following principles:
 - a. The conservator is to consider recommendations relating to the appropriate standard of support, education, and benefit for the protected person made by a parent or guardian, if any. The conservator may not be surcharged for sums paid to persons or organizations actually furnishing support, education, or care to the protected person pursuant to the recommendations of a parent or guardian of the protected person unless the conservator knows that the parent or guardian is deriving personal financial benefit therefrom, including relief from any personal duty of support, or unless the recommendations are clearly not in the best interests of the protected person.
 - b. The conservator is to expend or distribute sums reasonably necessary for the support, education, care, or benefit of the protected person with due regard to:
 - (1) The size of the estate, the probable duration of the conservatorship, and the likelihood that the protected person, at some future time, may be fully able to manage the protected person's affairs and the estate which has been conserved for the protected person.

2. If the estate is ample to provide for the purposes implicit in the distributions authorized by the preceding subsection, a conservator for a protected person other than a minor has power to make gifts to charity and other objects as the protected person might have been expected to make, in amounts which do not exceed in total for any year twenty percent of the income from the estate.

5. If a protected person dies, the conservator shall deliver to the court for safekeeping any will of the deceased protected person which may have come into the conservator's possession, inform the executor or a beneficiary named therein that the conservator has done so, and retain the estate for delivery to a duly appointed personal representative of the decedent or other persons entitled thereto. If after forty days from the death of the protected person no other person has been appointed personal representative and no application or petition for appointment is before the court, the conservator may apply to exercise the powers and duties of a personal representative so that the conservator may proceed to administer and distribute the decedent's estate without additional or further appointment. The making and entry of an order under this section ~~shall have~~has the effect of an order of appointment of a personal representative as provided in section 30.1-14-08 and chapters 30.1-17 through 30.1-21, except that estate in the name of the conservator, after administration, may be distributed to the decedent's successors without prior retransfer to the conservator as personal representative.

SECTION 11. A new section to chapter 30.1-29 of the North Dakota Century Code is created and enacted as follows:

Emergency conservator.

The court may appoint the conservator for a specified period of time, not to exceed ninety days. Immediately upon receipt of the petition for an emergency conservator, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to advocate for the best interests of the estate of the person to be protected in the proceeding and any subsequent proceeding. 2. An emergency conservator may be appointed without notice only if the court finds from affidavit or other sworn testimony that the estate of the person to be protected will be substantially harmed before a hearing on the appointment can be held. If the court appoints an emergency conservator without notice, the person whose estate is to be protected and the person's spouse, if any, must be given notice of the appointment within forty-eight hours. The court shall hold a hearing on the appropriateness of the appointment within ten days after the appointment.

3. Appointment of an emergency conservator, with or without notice, is not a determination of the person or the estate of the person's need for protection.
4. The court may remove an emergency conservator at any time. An emergency conservator shall make any report the court requires. In all other respects, the provisions of this chapter concerning conservators apply to an emergency conservator.
