Existing federal law prohibits discrimination based on sex in programs or activities of education that receive federal funding. (Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972, 20 U.S.C. §§ 1681 et seq.; 34 C.F.R. Part 106) Under existing federal regulations, an institution of higher education that receives federal funding must follow a grievance process that complies with Title IX to address formal complaints that allege an incident of sexual harassment that occurs in relation to an education program or activity of the institution, including, without limitation, incidents that occur on or off a campus of the institution. (34 C.F.R. §§ 106.44, 106.45) This bill generally expands the protections provided by Title IX.

Sections 3-11 of this bill define relevant terms. Section 20 of this bill authorizes the Board of Regents to require an institution within the System to designate a victim's advocate and provide training to the advocate. Section 21 of this bill sets forth the duties of the victim's advocate if an advocate is designated by an institution. Under existing law, certain communications between a victim and a victim's advocate are deemed to be confidential. (NRS 49.2546) Existing law defines a victim's advocate as a person who works for certain programs within the System that provide assistance to victims of certain acts. (NRS 49.2545) Section 28 of this bill includes the provision of services pursuant to sections 2-27 of this bill to victims of sexual misconduct in the definition of a victim's advocate.
