Research Analysis

HB3353, as introduced, extends from thirty days to forty-five days the amount of time an in-state beer distributor or manufacturer has to object to economic hardship exemption for out-of-state beer distributors. The measure reduces from sixty days to thirty days the window of opportunity for the extension of the waiver for economic hardship if no other distributor has been granted a distribution agreement.

The measure further specifies that the exemption applies to Oklahoma-licensed beer distributors with an Oklahoma designated territory who held the position on the effective date of October 1, 2018.
