HOUSE RESOLUTION

EXPRESSING ITS DEEPEST CONDOLENCES TO THE FARMER FAMILY ON THE PASSING OF THE HONORABLE SUSAN L. FARMER, FORMER RHODE ISLAND SECRETARY OF STATE AND THE FIRST WOMAN IN RHODE ISLAND HISTORY TO HOLD STATEWIDE GENERAL OFFICE

Introduced By: Representatives Fox, Mattiello, Newberry, Blazejewski, and E Coderre Date Introduced: January 07, 2014 Referred To: House read and passed

WHEREAS, Susan Farmer, who broke the glass ceiling in Rhode Island politics to get elected Secretary of State and become the first woman in Rhode Island history to hold statewide general office, passed away after fighting a long battle against cancer; and

WHEREAS, Susan Farmer was born in Boston, a daughter of the late Ralph and Margaret (Tyng) Lawson. Her father was the retired president of a machine tool plant and her mother was prominent in Republican women's circles. Ms. Farmer lived for a while in Bristol, Rhode Island and was a Providence resident for more than 60 years. She went to Wheeler School in Providence, then Stoneleigh-Burnham School in Greenfield, Massachusetts, now known as Simmons College; and

WHEREAS, Susan Farmer began her involvement in politics in 1971 due to her opposition to, and increasing frustration with the Vietnam War. She and her husband helped start a "Dump-Nixon" rally that drew thousands to the State House. In 1972 she ran the Rhode Island Presidential campaign for California Republican Paul McCloskey, an ardent opponent of the Vietnam War who was trying to deny President Nixon the 1972 Republican Presidential nomination; and

WHEREAS, In 1976 she became then Senator John Chafee's Finance Director and later in 1979 she ran for, and won, a seat on the commission drafting a new Home Rule Charter for Providence; and

WHEREAS, After losing her bid in 1980 to become Rhode Island Secretary of State, she ran again in 1982 and emerged victorious. She easily won re-election in 1984 but lost a hard fought campaign in 1986 for Lieutenant Governor; and

WHEREAS, A year later in 1987 Susan Farmer was offered the job of General Manager of Channel 36, Rhode Island's public television station. Susan re-invigorated public television in Rhode Island, using her administrative, fundraising and public-relations skills. She came up with the idea of airing a weekly public-affairs show, "A Lively Experiment", and became a prolific fundraiser for the station. She ran Public Television Station WSBE from 1987 to 2004, and served as President of the Rhode Island PBS Foundation from 1987 to 2005. She was inducted into the Rhode Island Heritage Hall of Fame in 2010; and

WHEREAS, Besides her husband Malcolm Farmer III, Susan Farmer leaves daughters, Heidi Farmer Piccerelli of Barrington, and Stephanie Lawson of Kentfield, California; now, therefore be it

14 RESOLVED, That this House of Representatives of the State of Rhode Island and 15 Providence Plantations hereby expresses its deepest condolences to the Farmer family on the 16 passing of the Honorable Susan L. Farmer; and be it further

17 RESOLVED, That the Secretary of State be and hereby is authorized and directed to 18 transmit a duly certified copy of this resolution to Mr. Malcolm Farmer III.
