IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

A BILL

To require the Secretary of State to take such actions as may be necessary for the United States to rejoin the Bureau of International Expositions, and for other purposes.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-

2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3       SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “U.S. Wants to Com-

5       pete for a World Expo Act”.

6       SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7       Congress finds the following:

1                             (1) The Bureau of International Expositions
2                             (BIE) is a treaty-based organization, with 169 mem-
3                             ber-states, responsible for governing World Fairs
4                             and International Expositions since the signing of 5                             the Convention Concerning International Expositions
6                             on November 22, 1928. The United States is a party
7                             to the Convention.

8                             (2) The United States withdrew from member-9                             ship in the BIE in 2001 in response to congressional 10                            limitations on the expenditure of funds for United 11                            States participation.

12                            (3) The United States and other non-members
13                             of the BIE face significantly higher costs to host 14                             and to participate in international expositions be-15                             cause of their non-member status.

16                            (4) The bid of a United States city, region, or 17                             State to host an international exposition is unlikely
18                             to be successful if the United States is not a mem-
19                             ber of the BIE, because BIE rules require that 20                             members receive a preference over non-members for 21                             all such bids.

22                            (5) Since the United States was previously a 23                             member of the BIE, and has already acceded to the 24                             Convention, no formal congressional action is nec-
25                             essary for the United States to rejoin the BIE.

1                     (6) The United States regularly enters into 2 international legal agreements with other countries
3 or international organizations, that are binding on 4 the United States as a matter of international law.
5 Under United States law, such agreements may take 6 the form of treaties or executive agreements.

7                     (7) The President may enter into an inter-
8 national agreement on matters within his constitu-
9 tional authority to the extent that the agreement is 10 not inconsistent with enacted legislation. The United 11 States is currently a party to approximately 900
12 treaties and 5,000 executive agreements.

13                     (8) Section 1(a) of Public Law 91–269 (22
14 U.S.C. 2801(a)) found that “international expo-
15 sitions . . . have a significant impact on the eco-
16 nomic growth of the region surrounding the expo-
17 sition and . . . are important instruments of na-
18 tional policy”.

19                     (9) Although section 204 of the Admiral James
20 W. Nance and Meg Donovan Foreign Relations Au-
21 thorization Act, Fiscal Years 2000 and 2001 (22
22 U.S.C. 2452b) prohibits “the expenditure of funds
23 appropriated to the Department of State for a 24 United States pavilion or other major exhibit at any 25 international exposition or world’s fair registered by

1       the Bureau of International Expositions in excess of 2       amounts expressly authorized and appropriated for 3       such purposes”, the section neither prohibits nor re-
4       stricts the United States from being a member of 5       the BIE.

6       SEC. 3. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

7       It is the sense of Congress that—

8               (1) there are no statutory provisions that pro-
9       hibit the United States from rejoining the BIE;

10              (2) the United States should rejoin the BIE im-
11       mediately to promote public diplomacy, global brand-
12       ing, and tourism to the United States; and

13              (3) the Secretary of State, in partnership with 14       the Secretary of Commerce, State and local govern-15       ments, and private and nonprofit entities, should 16       take all necessary steps to facilitate the timely sub-
17       mission of a request to rejoin the BIE.

18       SEC. 4. AUTHORIZATION.

19              (a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 90 days after the 20       date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State
21       shall take such actions as may be necessary for the United 22       States to rejoin the BIE, notwithstanding any prohibitions
23       under section 204 of the Admiral James W. Nance and 24       Meg Donovan Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal 25       Years 2000 and 2001 (22 U.S.C. 2452b).

1       (b) REPORT.—The Secretary of State shall inform
2 the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Rep-
3 resentatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of 4 the Senate upon submitting a request to rejoin the BIE.
