16           “(i) policies and practices of the issuer relating to freedom of association and work-
17           life balance initiatives;

1                   “(ii) any incidents of verified work-
2                   place harassment in the previous 5 fiscal 3                   years of the issuer; and

4                   “(iii) policies and practices of the 5                   issuer relating to employee engagement and 6                   psychological wellbeing, including manage-
7                   ment discussion regarding—

8                   “(I) the creation of an autono-
9                   mous work environment;

10                  “(II) fostering a sense of purpose
11                  in the workforce;

12                  “(III) trust in management; and 13                  “(IV) a supportive, fair, and con-

14                  structive workplace.

15                  “(F) Workforce health and safety, including 16                  information about—

17                  “(i) the frequency, severity, and lost
18                  time due to injuries, illness, and fatalities;

19                  “(ii) the total dollar value of assessed 20                  fines under the Occupational Safety and
21                  Health Act of 1970;

22                  “(iii) the total number of actions
23                  brought under section 13 of the Occupa-
24                  tional Safety and Health Act of 1970 to 25                  prevent imminent dangers; and

1                   “(iv) the total number of actions
2                   brought against the issuer under section
3                   11(c) of the Occupational Safety and
4                   Health Act of 1970.

5                   “(G) Workforce compensation and incen-
6                   tives, including information about—

7                   “(i) total workforce compensation, in-8                   cluding disaggregated information about 9                   compensation for full-time, part-time, and 10                  contingent workers;

11                  “(ii) policies and practices about how 12                  performance, productivity, and sustain-13                  ability are considered when setting pay and 14                  making promotion decisions; and

15                  “(iii) policies and practices relating to 16                  any incentives and bonuses provided to em-
17                  ployees below the named executive level and 18                  any policies or practices designed to counter
19                  any risks created by such incentives and bo-
20                  nuses.

21                  “(H) Workforce recruiting and needs, in-22                  cluding the number of new jobs created, the 23                  worker classification of new jobs, information
24                  about the quality of hire, and new hire retention
25                  rate.

1           “(3) TREATMENT OF EMERGING GROWTH COMPANIES.—The Commission may exempt emerging 2       growth companies from any disclosure described
3       under subparagraph (D), (E), (F), (G), or (H) of 4       paragraph (2), if the Commission determines that 5       such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the 6       public interest or for the protection of investors.”.
