A BILL

To authorize the Secretary of Education to award grants to eligible entities to carry out educational programs that include the history of peoples of African descent in the settling and founding of America, the economic and political environments that led to the development, institutionalization, and abolition of slavery and its impact on all Americans, the exploration and expansion of America, impact on and contributions to the development and enhancement of American life, United States history, literature, the economy, politics, body of laws, and culture, and for other purposes.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2   tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3   SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “Black History is Amer-
5   ican History Act”.

6   SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7       Congress finds the following:

8              (1) Since before its founding, the United States
9   of America has benefited from and been enhanced by 10   the integral role African Americans have played in 11   our country’s history and contributions to the world.

12             (2) African-American history does not begin in 13   the Americas. It can be traced back to the great em-
14   pires of West Africa beginning in A.D. 790, which 15   aided the establishment and survival of colonies in 16   America and the New World, generally, and fought
17   against European oppression.

18             (3) African Americans have represented a sig-
19   nificant portion of the American population from 20   nearly 20 percent at the signing of the Declaration

1 of Independence, almost all of whom, if not all, were 2 victims of the largest forced deportations in recorded
3 history, the transatlantic slave trade and resulting 4 African diaspora. It is estimated over 10,000,000
5 free Africans were enslaved between the mid-fif-
6 teenth and nineteenth centuries during the diaspora.

7 (4) Slavery was not abolished and African 8 Americans not acknowledged as American citizens
9 until the mid-nineteenth century, servitude did not 10 abate their contributions to the settlement, growth,
11 and development of the United States, which contin-
12 ued through Post-Reconstruction, Jim Crow, indus-
13 trialization, World Wars and conflicts, innovation
14 and inventiveness, constitutional progress, and every 15 aspect of American society.

16 (5) During the civil rights movement of the 17 1950s and 1960s, civil rights leaders and activists
18 championed the fight for equal rights, including vot-
19 ing rights, for all African Americans.

20 (6) The seminal case of Brown v. Board of 21 Education, decided May 17, 1954, found that the 22 decades-old policy of separate but equal access to 23 education was inherently unequal, and the segrega-
24 tion of Black public-school students was no longer
25 the law of the land.

1                   (7) African Americans continue to fight dis-
2                   crimination, structural racism, economic inequities,
3                   and benign and overt omission of the integral role
4                   they played in our country's rise to greatness.

5                   (8) A number of States have passed educational 6                   laws requiring Black history be incorporated into the 7                   curricula of all public schools.

8                   (9) Congress established the National Museum
9                   of African American History and Culture in 2003 10                  after decades of efforts to promote and highlight the 11                  contributions of African Americans, which serves as 12                  an indication of the national importance of exam-
13                  ining Black history. Since opening in 2016, the mu-
14                  seum has worked to educate the public on the Amer-
15                  ican story through the lens of African-American his-16                  tory and culture and provide educators, parents, 17                  caregivers, and students with tools and resources on 18                  the African-American experience, its national im-
19                  pact, race, racism, and the importance of tolerance 20                  and inclusivity.

21                  (10) According to a 2015 research study con-
22                  ducted by the National Museum of African Amer-
23                  ican History and Culture and reported in Research
24                  into the State of African American History and Cul-
25                  ture in K–12 Public Schools, key findings indicated

1       that teachers considered Black history as influential
2       in understanding the complexity of United States
3       history.

4                 (11) The importance of Black history is re-
5       flected in the National Assessment of Educational 6       Progress United States History framework, from 7       pre-colonization through contemporary America.

8                 (12) The Federal Government, through support
9       for educational activities of national museums estab-
10      lished under Federal law, can assist teachers in ef-
11      forts to incorporate historically accurate instruction
12      on the comprehensive history of African Americans
13      and students in their exploration of Black history as 14      an integral part of American history.
