4 and providing expiration dates.

5 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON:

6 NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that acquiring 7 and applying a basic knowledge of personal finance is critical to the 8 economic well-being of all adults. Without this knowledge, persons 9 are much less well-equipped to navigate the complicated financial 10 issues of modern life, including household budgets, consumer debt,
11 loan applications and obligations, and successful retirement 12 planning.

13 The legislature also recognizes that it has taken meaningful
14 steps to support financial education instruction in public schools, 15 including establishing the financial education public-private 16 partnership in 2004, adopting financial education learning standards
17 in 2015, and providing funds in 2022 for financial education
18 professional development for certificated staff.

19 In recognition of the relevance and importance of personal
20 finance knowledge, the ongoing efforts of the financial education 21 public-private partnership, and the ability of public schools to 1 teach or continue teaching financial education instruction, the 2 legislature intends to ensure that all Washington students are 3 provided financial education instruction. Therefore, the legislature

4 intends to make financial education instruction a graduation
5 requirement for public schools.

6 Sec. 2. RCW 28A.300.468 and 2015 c 211 s 4 are each amended to 7 read as follows:

8 (1) After consulting with the financial education public-private 9 partnership, the office of the superintendent of public instruction
10 shall make available to all school districts a list of instructional 11 materials that align with the financial education standards
12 (~~integrated into the state learning standards pursuant to RCW~~ 13 ~~28A.300.460(2)(d))~~ adopted in RCW 28A.300.469.

14 (2) School districts, through the end of the 2027-28 school year, 15 shall provide all students in grades nine through (~~twelve~~) 12 the 16 opportunity to access the financial education standards, whether 17 through a regularly scheduled class period; before or after school;
18 during lunch periods; at library and study time; at home; via online
19 learning opportunities; through career and technical education course 20 equivalencies; or other opportunities. School districts shall 21 publicize the availability of financial education opportunities to 22 students and their families. School districts are encouraged to grant 23 credit toward high school graduation to students who successfully 24 complete financial education courses.
