

FISCAL NOTE

The Department of Administration and Information states that the fiscal impact of this bill on their agency cannot be determined at this time.

The Attorney General's Office states that this bill could have a fiscal impact on their agency. It is possible that they would need one or more new attorney positions and support staff to handle the additional workload. However, they would not request additional positions at this time.

The fiscal impact to the judicial system is indeterminable due to an unknown number of cases.
