17 and the citizens of Wyoming, and Cindy Hill, on behalf of

1 herself and as the Superintendent of Public Instruction v.
2 State of Wyoming and Matthew H. Mead, Governor, in his 3 official capacity [Docket No. S-13-0052], the Supreme Court
4 responded to a certified question finding 2013 Wyoming
5 Session Laws, Chapter 1, violated Wyoming Constitution,
6 Article 7, Section 14;

7

8 (ii) In its ruling cited under paragraph (i) of 9 this subsection, the Supreme Court did not identify which 10 powers and duties assigned under 2013 Wyoming Session Laws,
11 Chapter 1, were improperly assigned from the state
12 superintendent of public instruction, nor did the Supreme 13 Court identify those assigned duties which could properly
14 be assigned from the state superintendent;

15

16 (iii) In its ruling cited under paragraph (i) of 17 this subsection, the Supreme Court states it was not 18 holding that the legislature may not delegate duties and 19 powers relating to public education to entities other than 20 the state superintendent;

21

22 (iv) The legislature is tasked with addressing
23 those aspects of 2013 Wyoming Session Laws, Chapter 1,

1 proper assignment of powers and duties meeting
2 constitutional requirements;

3

4 (v) The legislature is required to clarify a
5 process for the technical implementation of subsequent 6 legislative actions dependent upon a structure for those 7 state statutes impacted by the ruling cited under paragraph 8 (i) of this subsection;

9

10 (vi) The legislature is required to develop a 11 process to disentangle budgeted amounts attached with the 12 several programs and services structured around an 13 assignment of powers and duties under 2013 Wyoming Session
14 Laws, Chapter 1, to a structure reflecting an assignment of 15 powers and duties responding to the ruling cited under 16 paragraph (i) of this subsection;

17

18 (vii) The legislature is required to determine
19 the reassignment of powers and duties under 2013 Wyoming
20 Session Laws, Chapter 1, necessary to meet the requirements
21 of the Wyoming Constitution, and to provide the most 22 efficient system for delivering a quality education to 23 Wyoming's children;

24

1 (viii) The legislature is committed to receiving 2 input from educators as well as public testimony prior to 3 developing a response to the Supreme Court ruling.

4

20 cochairmen may delegate hearing and examination of certain 21 topics to one (1) or more joint interim committees of the 22 legislature, to report back to the council for preparation
23 of the recommendations. Recommendations, including 24 proposed budgets for related programs and services and

1 including enabling legislation, shall be developed in 2 sufficient time for submission to members of the 3 legislature on or before ninety (90) days after a final
4 order has been issued by the district court in the case
5 referenced in paragraph (a)(i) of this section and the time
6 for appeal of that order has expired, or if appealed, a 7 final order or mandate of the Wyoming Supreme Court has 8 been issued confirming the district court's final order.

9

10 (c) If the management council and the cochairmen of 11 the joint appropriations interim committee and the joint 12 education interim committee, upon conclusion of the study
13 required under subsection (b) of this section, find it
